Today the motormen and conductors of the Atlantic Shore line have a good incentive to do their best for the line, for the increase in pay recently petitioned for goes into effect. The new arrangement does not affect men who have been in the road's employ more than five years, but benefits by about one cent per hour employees of shorter lengths of service. The success of this petition was a very pleasant surprise.

Whether or not the four black horizontal stripes being painted on the funnels of the battleships at the navy yard are intended as an ornament is not known, but if so they are decidedly a poor substitute for the magnificent figureheads which are to be shorn from their bows. It is a great pity that the ships are to be deprived of these splendid fixtures, for it seems to many that they can not be conspicuous enough to discover the vessels which they adorn to an enemy in time of war, as is claimed.

As the time approaches for the establishment of a six cent fare on the Atlantic Shore line, questions are heard as to the legality of the proceeding. It has been said that the charter requires five five-cent fare limits between Badger's Island and York Beach, and that an act of legislation, only, will allow anything else. However foolhardy the raising of fares may be, though, it is not at all likely that the company would transgress in such a manner without first investigating thoroughly.

The steam Sam Adams, Captain Daniel Tucker, from Portsmouth for Isles of Shoals, lost her propeller about seven o'clock on Monday evening, when outside Whalesback light. The distress signals were seen by Keeper Ephraim S. Hall of Wood Island life saving station, who telephoned for the tug M. Mitchell Davis. Before the tug arrived the schooner Angler offered assistance which was declined. The boat was towed to Frisbee's wharf where she tied up for the night. This morning she was taken in tow by the tug Piscataqua and taken to Portsmouth for repairs. The four passengers on the Sam Adams spent the night at Hotel Parkfield.

Gerardine Walker of Portsmouth is entertaining a house party of sixteen girl classmates from Briarcliff at her mother's bungalow on Sagamore creek, Little Harbor.

The Kittery Yacht club holds a club run to Dover on Sunday. Mrs. Albert Bowden is ill. The naval cadet practice squadron, in which are the three Kittery midshipmen, sailed from Hampton Roads on Monday for New London.

The bands on the battleships at the navy yard would have been much enjoyed Monday evening had not the main efforts of those concerned been apparently to drown each other out. The usual custom of each band playing alternately, giving both a chance to be appreciated, seemed to be forgotten.

The superintending school committee failed to come to an agreement regarding the award of a contract for building the Spruce Creek school at their meeting Monday evening.

"At the eleventh hour" two members of the orchestra which was to furnish music at the Traip Academy commencement exercises have disappointed the class and the officers are scurrying around to make other arrangements.

The examinations for pupils who wish to enter Traip Academy and for teachers who desire positions are being held today and yesterday at the Academy. The number of candidates is large.

The Misses Annie and Alison Locke are due today from Jacksonville, Fla., to open their home for the summer.

Mrs. Howard Moody of Dame street is confined to her home by illness.

The regular weekly prayer meetings will be held this evening at the Second Christian and Second Methodist churches.

Mrs. Elizabeth Manson is apparently very much better. Her many friends are hoping to see her out of doors again, in spite of her long sickness.

Mrs. Hannah Bartlett has returned home from Portland, where she has been visiting friends for a week. She reports having had a fine time in the Forest City.

Mrs. Jane Trickey is expected home on Saturday from a long visit among friends in Boston and other places near the city. Her friends here will be very glad to greet her on her return.

Mr. Denny, pastor of the First Methodist church, has got through with the spring term at the university in Boston and will spend his vacation here. He is boarding with Mrs. H. A. Harrold. He enjoys his charge very much and will devote his whole time during the vacation in trying to build up the society.

The ladies of the League and others are to give a reception to Mr. Denny on Wednesday evening.

Clifford Muchmore met with a very serious accident at the yard Sunday, being badly burned in the face while at work.

School is soon to close, about two weeks of the term remaining. Miss Evans, the teacher, talks of spending the summer in or near Portland. She will have the best wishes of the scholars who have attended her school, for a pleasant vacation.

The wedding of Miss Florence Emily Austin, daughter of Mrs. John H. Parrott of this town, and Dr. Louis William Parady of Jacksonville, Vermont, will occur tomorrow at Christ Episcopal church in Portsmouth, Rev. C. L. V. Brine performing the ceremony. A tin shower was given on Tuesday evening at the house of Mrs. Mabel L. Coes to Miss Florence E. Austin, whose marriage to Dr. Louis W. Parady occurs Wednesday. Incidentally refreshments were served and the occasion was a very pleasant one. Dr. Parady arrived early in the evening from Jacksonville, Vt., and was

LIGHTNING TORE LEG FROM A BEDSTEAD

Burned Hat and Stockings and Did Other Damage At Brixham

During the thunder shower which passed over York on Monday afternoon, lightning struck the residence of Andrew McIntire at Brixham and certainly performed some queer freaks, during which the inmates of the dwelling, two women and a man, marvelously escaped injury.

The bolt came down the chimney at one end of the house, went around the rooms and in its travels cut the leg completely off of a bed in the chamber. It then connected with the windows and cleared out all the glass in that end of the dwelling. One or more of the windows were smashed from their frames which left as clear as if carpenters had removed glass and sash.

Burns Hat and Stockings

The only fire which it caused was the burning of a lady's hat and stockings, in a closet, nothing else was even scorched.

The people in the house at the time had a wonderful escape, but came out with nothing more than a good scare.

The chimney was badly wrecked besides furniture in the several rooms.

Outside the house it stripped the clapboards and the nearby trees suffered considerable damage.

SUPERIOR COURT HEARINGS

Judge Wallace Holding Court in This City This Week

Chief Justice Robert M. Wallace of the superior court came to New Hampshire on Monday afternoon for the consideration of matters to be heard without a jury. This is an adjourned term from the April term at Exeter.

Hearings began on Monday and will continue till the matters to come before the court are disposed of. The business already transacted is:

Clara G. Mann of Candia from Edward W. Mann of Candia, for extreme cruelty. Custody of minor children given to mother.

Nellie F. Lewis of Raymond from Reginald J. N. Lewis of Raymond, for extreme cruelty. Alimony of $1000 granted.

Six Other Decisions

A motion was granted to set aside, as insufficient, the verdict of $25 damages awarded by the jury in the case of William E. Lancaster vs. Kimball and McLaughlin. The court assessed the damages at $100.

A motion was denied for a new trial in the case of Fred Miller Brewing Company vs. Thomas Loughlin. The verdict was for the defendant.

Judgment for the defendant was given in a suit for the value of a horse—Thomas McCue vs. Daniel McAlister.

Judgment for plaintiff was given in A. T. Cook Whip Company vs. Curtis D. Call.

Judgment for plaintiff was awarded in Arthur Dedes vs. Basil Bandelias.

Judgment for defendant was awarded in the case of the Best Manufacturing Company vs. Robert Capstick.

A hearing was given but no decision announced in the case of Ralph M. Ward vs. Robert Capstick.

Monday evening, and tentative plans were presented by two buildings. No action was taken.

CHARMING JUNE WEDDING

Miss Geneve Folsom Pfeiffer and Mr. Lucius Felt Hallett Married at St. Andrews-by-the-Sea.

The little church St. Andrews-by-the-Sea was the scene on Monday afternoon of a very charming wedding, when Miss Geneve Folsom Pfeiffer daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Oscar Pfeiffer of Denver, with a summer home in Greenland, and formerly of this city, and Mr. Lucius Felt Hallett of Denver, a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology were made one in the Holy Bonds of Matrimony, in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends.

The charming little church was handsomely decorated for the occasion by R. E. Hannaford of this city, and he used a profusion of wood fern, bridal veil, apple blossoms, syringa, etc., the color scheme being white and green.

At three o'clock the hour of the ceremony the church was filled with the relatives and friends, who were seated by Messrs. John Evans of Denver and C. Eaton Creech of Washington who officiated as ushers.

During the prelude and also after the services Prof. Hamilton McDougal of Wellesley presided at the organ.

The full episcopal service was used by Dean Martin Hart of Denver the rector of the bride.

The bride who was given away by her father was charmingly gowned in white satin, en train, trimmed with Irish Point lace, she wore a tulle veil caught with a spray of lilies of the valley and she carried a shower bouquet of the same flowers.

She was attended by her sister Miss Mary Gilman Pfeiffer as maid of honor, and she was dressed in pale green chiffon, and wore a veil of the same material and carried a bouquet of white sweet peas.

The best man was Mr. Roblin Davis of Denver.

During the entrance to the church a party of the bride's friends from Wellesley rendered the Lohengrin wedding march. They were Miss Elsie Chapin, Miss Anna Macfarlane, Miss Helen Bussey, Miss Hope Bates.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the Hotel Farragut at Rye Beach, and the bridal party was assisted in receiving by Dr. and Mrs. Pfeiffer. A wedding lunch was served and during the time Hoyt and Parkers orchestra of this city rendered selections.

They will after a wedding tour reside in Denver, where the groom is an electrical engineer. He is the son of Judge Moses Hallett, of that city and very popular. The bride is a graduate of Wellesley college class of 1908 and was very popular while at college being president of her class in 1907.

The Pacific fleet, commanded by Rear Admiral Seabee, will make a cruise into foreign waters this fall. It will be of considerable length covering a period of possibly six or eight months. Although not entirely settled, it is probable the fleet now at San Francisco will proceed up the coast into Alaska waters and thence to Japan and the Philippines. The northerly route is selected in order that the fleet may make certain of encountering fog conditions for its practice work. The fleet will doubtless proceed as far as Manila, and may go on down to Australia and thence up the China coast, making several stops, and thence for a prolonged cruise in Japanese waters. One course that was suggested was for it to be brought to the Atlantic coast by way of the Cape of Good Hope from Manila. It is expected that the cruise will begin late in the summer and that fall target practice will be held in Manila bay. It is also likely that the fleet will remain abroad long enough for the spring practice to be conducted either in Manila bay or foreign waters.

Secretary Meyer has given orders for the establishment of a school of marine engineering at the Naval Academy. This school is designed to educate line officers in machinery design and shop administration by the methods of modern engineering science. Ten line officers annually will be assigned to the school, of which the superintendent of the Naval Academy will be the head. A limited number of graduates of the two year course in this school will be chosen for permanent appointment as designing engineers. These will forego the privilege of command at sea. The purpose is to keep the line engineers of the navy abreast of developments in engineering science.

The officers of the Naval Medical corps taking a post graduate course at the Naval Medical school in Washington ended their studies at that institution on Saturday. The school will be closed until the first of October next, when a new class will receive instructions. Among the acting assistant surgeons who will be ordered to the school in October are J. A. Bass, C. E. Fulton, D. C. Walton, E. P. Thomas, F. W. Robbins, A. B. Cecil, P. W. Thompson, E. W. Phillips, H. H. Conner, S. T. Hart, E. E. Jenkins, W. J. Haddock and William L. Irvine.

THEATRICAL TOPICS

Flying Ellet Family
Other aerialists may have been seen and admired, but it is a freely acknowledged fact that these shows have a veritable monopoly of the real aerial gymnast of the entire American show world. First in any list would have to be mentioned the Ellets, the reputation of grace and daring, whose flight through the lofty dome of the canvas pavilion covering the arena of the circus has been the cause of abandonment of seats. Ellets are known as "Birds of the Air" and are also seen in the circus, but they are not so graceful, but they are not so remembered. The Ellets are the most dramatic act on aerial horizontal bars, and in the dome of the canvas tent, but few men can do what they do. They may be ranked from the ground.

Only the features of this division of daring diversions are mentioned, and the cause is apparent to all who continue to read this at a brief tale of this towering giant of circuses. The Frank A. Robbins Shows.

Will exhibit in Portsmouth on June 17.

Footlight Flashes

Henry B. Harris has acquired the American rights of James Edward Fagan's play "The Earth," which was produced recently in London, and will present it here with Edmund Breeze in the chief role. It deals with the ways of modern yellow journalism. A proprietor of many sensational newspapers threatens to expose the intrigue of the statesman with a brilliant countess if the former does not withdraw a labor bill to which he, the journalist, is opposed. There was a pretty general admission on the part of London critics that the play was vigorous, able and interesting, but several of them maintained that it was unfair and unreasonable to judge a man's private character from the nature of his public business.

Sir Charles Wyndham's next play will be "The Blind Passenger."

Frank Worthling has been engaged for the leading role in David Belasco's new play "The Open Door."

William Courtleigh will appear next season in "A Fool There Was."

D'Annunzio, in referring to his new work, "Fedra," said recently: "I had no personal vision of 'Fedra,' but I seemed to hear a very great actress cry to me that she had never been able to represent Racine's Fedra, because of the difficulty of transcribing it into Italian. And that was what made me try my pen in writing an Italian 'Fedra,' hoping that this very great artist might some day consent to appear in it. No one would think that there was humor in me, but I am almost as full of humor as the greatest humorist in the world—Mark Twain—and I will try to prove this in my next play, 'The Pretenders,' which I intend to fill with Goldenrod humor. And it is, to the modern drama that I propose, for the future, to concentrate my literary life. I had intended to do this some time ago, but a demon urged me to write 'Fedra,' and I wrote it." The great actress alluded to is of course Duse.

William Devereux, author of "William of Marston," is to write a play on the subject of Walter Raleigh for Lewis Waller. The interest will centre in the discovery of a plot to dethrone Elizabeth in favor of Queen Mary, and the courtship and marriage of the hero will be prominent features.

The performance of Miss Belle Burke in "Love Watches" did not meet with the approval of all the London critics, but pleased Messrs. De Fiers and Callavet, the authors of the original French piece. They have agreed to write a play specially for her, for production next March in Paris. In it she will appear, supported by a French company, as an English girl speaking French. If the piece succeeds in Paris it will be transferred to London and America with Miss Burke in the leading part which will then be changed to that of a French girl moving among English characters.

Oscar Hammerstein has engaged Marguerite Sylva to sing next season at the Manhattan Opera House.

A writer in the London Nation, discussing Mr. Fagan's play, "The Earth" and Mr. Arnold Bennett's "What the Public Wants"—both of which assail some of the ways of modern journalism, and which have received cool treatment from some of the leading London critics—says very pertinently: "What, therefore, explains this persistent concern of our young playwrights with such social trifles as the tendency of newspapers to be grouped under the ownership of one or two men with the power to borrow a phrase from Mr. Fagan, of living vicariously in the street by busy common life, now and then descending to the gutter, and again flying as high as—let us say—Pimping, House square itself? Is there nothing here to concern the stage dramatist? The stage realist? For example, might not the existence of such a force incidentally affect some factors in modern existence—its religion, its politics, the tone and character of its literary and dramatic criticism? If it were worked very cruelly and unscrupulously, might it not set up blackmailing inquiries into the private affairs of public men? And if it were exercised purely for commercial ends would it not sadly cheapen the tone of the newspaper, banishing independence, sincerity, distinction, making the advertiser king, and setting up the business of catching and fixing the common fancy as the sole aim of the journalist? Is there not here dramatic stuff in plenty, yielding the very form and pressure of the times and holding the mirror up to their nature? So, at least, think our young dramatists, and a fair number of the theatre-going public seem to think with them. Now this surely an effort of the dramatic spirit to live, to find its sphere of influence, to be in the presence of things and, therefore, it should be encouraged."

After referring to Charles Frohman's proposed reversionary theatre and other matters, a writer in the London Truth remarks: "The real fact is that Mr. Frohman, in his progress of getting the control of the English stage into his hands, is taking long views, not uncommercial views, and more than Mr. Shaw who, I believe, is purely commercial, though he seems him to pose as an idealist. While the bulk of our managers are courting

If You Have Any Hair Trouble Read This

People might as well look facts in the face and not be humbugged any longer by dangerous and worthless preparations for the hair. The vital point to remember is this: Dandruff is the direct cause of nearly every case of baldness, and is also the principal cause of many other ailments of the hair and scalp. The one thing needed above all other things to overcome dandruff and give the hair the gloss of health is cleanliness. You have got to clean the scalp of scales and dandruff, and you have got to keep the pores of your scalp open, before you can hope to have beautiful hair. From the sebaceous glands on your head there constantly comes an oily secretion to moisten the scalp and give a gloss to the hair. Floating in the air are millions of fine particles of dust, dirt and disease germs. These settle upon the head, mix with the oily secretion, and in a very short time dandruff and scales are formed. These scales stop up the pores, so that the hair roots are not nourished as they should be. And then the hair becomes sick, dies and falls out. Some people allow all this dirt and disease and filth to accumulate on their heads for weeks or months without washing the scalp and hair. Everybody's head and hair ought to be washed at least once a week, no matter what anybody else tells you. But don't make the mistake of using common soaps and shampoos. Common soaps contain too much alkali, and they leave the hair dry and harsh, and they do not leave the scalp in a healthy condition. Improper soaps and shampoos actually do more harm than good. You should use the one thing in all this world which is above suspicion and above criticism, and that is Birt's Head Wash. It is made of Refined Soap, Cocos Coconut Oil, White of Eggs, Glycerin and Salicylic Acid. This formula is so generally recognized as proper that you are invited to ask any physician you know what he thinks about it. Birt's Head Wash doesn't simply take off the dirt, dandruff, germs and microbes, but it leaves the scalp soft and moist and the hair fine and glossy. The first time you use Birt's Head Wash you can see an improvement in your hair, and its regular use will help to completely overcome dandruff. You will be astonished how many impurities will be found in your hair and scalp, because nothing takes them out like Birt's Head Wash. Price 50 cents a jar.

Charge of Japanese Subject

PRIVATE PAPERS SEIZED

Sheriff Admits Action by Force of Arms and Without Search Warrants or Process of Law—Members of Editorial Staffs of Japanese Newspapers Arrested in Honolulu on Charges of Conspiracy

Honolulu, June 15.—The situation growing out of the indictment by the grand jury of seventeen leaders in the strike of Japanese plantation laborers has taken an international turn. M. Megoro of the editorial staff of The Jiji, a local Japanese publication, who was taken into custody when the office of that paper was raided by the authorities last Friday, made a formal complaint to the Japanese foreign office at Tokyo of violation of his treaty rights as a Japanese subject.

He sets forth in his complaint that this violation consists in the search of his office and the seizure of his private papers and documents by the territorial authorities without due process of law.

Territorial Sheriff Henry admits that the search and seizure were made by force of arms and without search warrants or process of law, but contends that the papers seized contained evidence of criminal purpose and that the courts of the territory are open to Megoro for redress if he has been damaged.

Negoro was re-arrested Monday with Y. Soga, Y. Tasaka and K. Kawamura of the editorial staffs of The Nippo and The Jiji, on indictments, returned by a grand jury, charging them with "conspiring by indirect, sinister and unlawful methods and means of intimidation, inciting to riot and threatening violence to prevent and hinder" the Honolulu, Oahu, Ewa, Waiwala and Kahuku plantations from carrying on their business.

Negoro, together with Soga, Tasaka and Kawamura, were admitted to bail at $1500 in each case. Pending bonds or cash bail were furnished all four are in jail. Negoro is preparing to bring court proceedings against the territory for $500,000 damages.

The city is full of striking Japanese and the tension is so great that orders were issued that the full force of police remain at the police station ready for any emergency.

HAT FACTORIES ARE OPEN

Long Strike in Connecticut is Brought to a Close

Danbury, Conn., June 15.—The hatmakers' strike, which has been in progress in this city, New Milford and Bethel for the past five months, was brought to a close last night when the seven factories which did not open last week entered into an agreement with the local unions. The factories opened for work this morning, giving employment to about 1600 hands.

The terms of the agreement were not made public, but were probably the same as those entered into by the other manufacturers, which was on an open shop basis, with all difficulties to be settled by arbitration. The manufacturers also agree to resign from the Manufacturers' association.

THIEF TAKERS IN SESSION

Country's Chiefs of Police Holding Annual Convention in Buffalo

Buffalo, June 15.—Yeggmen and crooks of high and low degree will give this city a wide berth during the next three days, for the city will shelter within its gates the leading foes of crime throughout the country. The International Association of Police Chiefs is in session here.

Addresses relating to various phases of the war against criminals will occupy most of the time of the convention. W. H. Chandler, chief of police of Knoxville, is the present head of the association.

GREAT CHURCH CONVENTION

Twenty-Five Millions Represented at Presbyterian Alliance Meeting

New York, June 15.—One of the most important religious gatherings of recent years in the number of persons represented is that of the world's Presbyterian alliance, which began in this city today. In it are represented five continents, ninety separate denominations and nearly 25,000,000 members. The meeting is known officially as the ninth quinquennial council of the Alliance of the Reformed Churches Throughout the World Holding the Presbyterian System. To facilitate matters the alliance is generally referred to as the Pan-Presbyterian alliance.

The meeting will last ten days, during which subjects of great moment to the Protestant world will be discussed. Addresses have been announced upon many theological questions. In addition the attitude of the churches represented on marriage and divorce, temperance, church union and other questions of the day will be discussed.

England, Scotland, France, Italy, Arabia, Canada and other countries have sent delegates to the convention, as well as the United States. The theologians assembled here are numbered among the leading exponents of Protestant thought in their respective countries. Additional interest is lent to this Presbyterian convention by the fact that this year marks the 500th anniversary of the birth of John Calvin, who is looked upon by Presbyterians as the founder of their church.

THE DAVAO MUTINY

American Women Rendered Assistance to Men During the Siege

Manila, June 15.—The courage and coolness under fire of the American women at Davao during the siege of the convent in which Americans were gathered during the mutiny of June 6, when a part of the company of Philippine constabulary at that post revolted, is the subject of warm praise in a private message from Davao.

The message says that after the attack on barracks, which fell into the hands of the mutineers, all Americans of the post and sixteen of the native constabulary who remained loyal gathered in the convent and resisted the assaults of the mutineers. The women assisted the men in every way possible.

Captain Walker of the Philippine scouts, governor of Davao province, was wounded during the attack on the church. The pursuit of the twenty-three mutineers, who retired to the mountains when their assaults on the convent proved unavailing, is under way. The mutineers are of the Visayan tribe.

FOSTER TO REMAIN A BAPTIST MINISTER

Failure of Effort to Expel Him
For Alleged Heresy

Chicago, June 15.—The Baptist ministers' conference, by a vote of 37 to 14, decided against expelling from membership Professor George B. Foster of the University of Chicago, whose utterances on religious subjects have been criticized by Baptist ministers as heretical.

The adoption of a resolution offered as a substitute reaffirmed the ministers' allegiance to the Baptist church regardless of the beliefs or words of Foster or any other, in effect defeated the original resolution, and without further resolutions the conference adjourned.

ABANDONMENT CHARGE ONLY

Sole Issue In Mrs. Gould's
Suit For Separation

JUSTICE DOWLING'S RULING

Question Now to Be Decided Is Whether Husband's Stipulations For Reconciliation Were Unreasonable—Exhibition of Photograph of Woman on "Wild West" Show Horse Causes Plaintiff Embarrassment

New York, June 15.—Abandonment will be the sole issue upon which the suit for separation brought by Katherine C. Gould against her husband, Howard Gould, will be decided. This ruling was made in the supreme court by Justice Dowling after counsel for Mrs. Gould had rested the case for the plaintiff.

This sweeps away several phases of the case—notably, cruelty and non-support, and is a partial victory for Howard Gould. As to the charge of abandonment, the court held that this, too, might not stand unless the plaintiff was able to show that Gould's stipulations for a reconciliation with his wife were unreasonable. This phase of the case will be argued today.

Developments in the case Monday were perhaps the most interesting in the trial so far. George Gould, a brother of the defendant, testified, and Mrs. Gould was excused from the stand after three days of searching cross-examination.

After the case for the plaintiff rested, Delancy Nicoll, counsel for the husband, made the usual motion that the suit be dismissed on the ground that the plaintiff had failed to make out a case.

"There has been no evidence of cruelty," he argued. "One of the allegations is that the plaintiff was surrounded by spies. Nothing has been adduced to prove it."

Referring to the abandonment charge, he said that Howard Gould left his wife in July, 1906, but offered to return on perfectly reasonable terms, one of which was that she should abstain from intoxicating liquors. Mrs. Gould, he continued, refused.

During the foregoing argument Mrs. Gould became faint, left the courtroom and did not return. Then her counsel, Clarence Shearn, began argument against the motion of the defense to dismiss.

"It is cruelty," he affirmed, "for a husband, without justification, to accuse his wife of being a bad character or to entertain against her, without cause, reflections against her honor. Howard Gould's attempt to have his wife pledge herself not to drink in itself constitutes cruelty."

Inasmuch as the abandonment charge only is to be considered there will be no further mention of Buffalo Bill, "Big" Hawley, the former convict, or Ed Sholes, the reputed gambler. But it still leaves undecided the question of Mrs. Gould's alleged indulgence in intoxicants.

The most pertinent and apparently embarrassing thrust during Monday's proceedings was the exhibition of a faded, old-fashioned photograph of a young woman on a white horse, with the white canvas of a circus tent in the background. Mrs. Gould turned a dull red when it was shown, but she would not identify the photograph as one of herself nor would she swear that it was not. She thought it was "hardly fit enough for me."

This picture was introduced to show, if possible, Mrs. Gould's former association with Buffalo Bill's show. She had denied on the stand that she was in any way connected with the Wild West, though she had admitted that she traveled at times with Colonel Cody and daughter and that he was her manager.

In retaliation for the picture incident Mrs. Gould made one cutting retort to her inquisitor. Nicoll had been asking the witness about her gowns, how many she wore, how often she wore them and what came of them. They were given away, Mrs. Gould testified. "One of them," she shot in, "was given to your own sister, who is on the stage. I have aided many poor girls to get stage engagements by equipping them with my discarded gowns."

"Did it become her?" was Nicoll's only rejoinder.

As was the case Friday, most of Monday was taken up in questioning Mrs. Gould concerning her lavish expenditures. How many frocks to wear a day, how long it took to dress, and the declaration that it was "very bad taste" to wear a gown twice were among the interesting fashion hints in the testimony. The name of Dustin Farnum, the actor, was again brought in, and George Gould testified how he instituted an investigation of an alleged marriage of the plaintiff before she became his brother's wife.

Shocks Cause Panics in France

Toulon, June 15.—Slight seismic shocks occurred Monday in the districts of Briguegnan, Vaucluz and Puy-St-Etienne. No damage is reported, but the residents were thrown into a panic.

"ENEMY" QUICKLY SPOTTED

Narragansett Bay Defense Quickly Responded to Duty's Call

Newport, R. I., June 15.—Without any prior intimation, 1500 members of the various military organizations guarding the defenses to Narragansett bay responded to a call to arms last night to repel the invasion of a pseudo enemy's ship.

Scarcely had the call been sounded when the invading vessel was picked up and technically put out of commission. Thus the enemy could not advance.

Welcome Storm Arrives

Presque Isle, Me., June 15.—Heavy showers here yesterday and last night materially checked, but did not quench entirely, the forest fires which have burned for the past week. It is believed that no further danger is likely to property.

THE SLAVONIA FULL OF WATER

She Lies Under Cliff a Thousand Feet High

DETAILS OF THE DISASTER

Call by Wireless For Help Promptly Responded to, but Big Liner Landed Passengers With Own Boats Meanwhile—Stateroom Baggage Is Saved but That in Hold Is Lost—Crew All Safe

Gibraltar, June 15.—The North German Lloyd steamer Prinzess Irene arrived here, having on board the first class passengers of the Cunard steamer Slavonia, which ran ashore early in the morning of June 10 on Flores Island, one of the Azores.

The Slavonia, which sailed from New York on June 3, had fair weather until near the Azores, when fog set in. She was under a good head of speed when she struck a rock off Flores Island. The water rushed in and, in an incredibly short time, flooded the hold and reached the engines.

The passengers were awakened by the shock and flocked out on the decks. It was then about 2:30 a. m. Those of the first and second cabins behaved admirably, but the steerage passengers showed much excitement.

The officers of the ship did everything possible to reassure the passengers and the band was set to playing popular airs.

A call for help was sent out by wireless, which was responded to by the Prinzess Irene, but long before her arrival on the scene the Slavonia's own boats landed the passengers. The Prinzess Irene, which reached the Slavonia late on Thursday evening, embarked the saloon passengers early the following morning. All of the passengers, except six, remained on the Prinzess Irene and are proceeding to Naples.

The Flores islanders call the rocks that now hold the hull of the Slavonia "the mouth of hell."

The ship is full of water, the bow standing at the foot of a cliff 1000 feet in height. A gale coming up suddenly, the crew were all safely landed on the cliff by the use of a hawser and blocks.

The stateroom baggage was saved but the hold baggage was lost. A wrecking tug has arrived at the Slavonia and reports that it will be possible to save the baggage if the weather conditions continue favorable.

WELCOMED TO DARTMOUTH

Mass Reception Tendered President-Elect Nicholls by Student Body

Hanover, N. H., June 15.—Had Ernest F. Nicholls needed any further assurance of his welcome to Dartmouth college he received it when the 1200 students of the institution tendered him a mass reception. The president-elect came here to attend a faculty reception tonight.

Addressing the students, Nicholls said: "With your loyal support, I expect to make the college an institution of moral vigor, sound knowledge and manly prowess. In order to attain this end, you must work hard and play hard. Then the good ship Dartmouth will assuredly cross the line first."

TIME ON TELEGRAMS

Measure Fought by Telegraph Companies Becomes a Law

Boston, June 15.—With the signing by the governor of the bill requiring that the time of sending and the receipt of telegrams shall appear in each message sent and received in Massachusetts, the two telegraph companies announced that the words and figures shall be included and counted, which will reduce the number of words of information in each.

The rate in Massachusetts will remain the same, 25 cents for ten words, but the time must be counted. The bill was fought at every stage in the legislature.

HOT DAY IN BOSTON

Most Uncomfortable Day This Year the Cause of Five Prostrations

Boston, June 15.—Five prostrations because of the excessive heat were reported from the various hospitals at the close of the most sultry and uncomfortable day of the year. The mercury climbed to 86 degrees and last night was still up to 78.

Outside the city a light wind swept across country, making the day most agreeable, but its effects were not to be noticed where it was most needed in the business and crowded tenement sections.

Schooner Had Close Call

New York, June 15.—A dense fog which hovered off Nantucket lightship came near being responsible for a collision between the big French liner LaSavole and a schooner, whose name could not be learned. By putting on full speed astern the Savole so slackened her pace as to allow the schooner to glide across her bows.

FAMOUS WOMEN IN SESSION

Leaders in Many Fields at International Convention in Toronto

Toronto, June 15.—More than 7,000,000 women, living in all parts of the world, are represented at the fourth quinquennial meeting of the International Council of Women, which began its sessions in this city today. The council will remain in session two weeks, during which time it will listen to addresses by some of the ablest of the world's women.

The purpose of the International Council of Women is the provision of a means of communication between organizations of women in all countries; also to provide opportunities for the intercommunication of views on questions affecting the welfare of the individual and the community. The council owes its existence to the initiative of two American women, Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Miss Susan B. Anthony, who called together the first international convention of women in Washington in 1888.

The president of the International Council is the Countess of Aberdeen, wife of the viceroy of Ireland, who has been on this side of the Atlantic for two weeks seeking support for her war on tuberculosis among the poor of Ireland. The National Council of Women of the United States is represented at the sessions of the International Council by its president, Mrs. Mary W. Swift of Berkeley, Cal.

LODGE ON THE TARIFF

Senator Insists That Tinkering Is in a Downward Direction

Somerville, Mass., June 15.—Senator Lodge, in a letter to the Somerville board of trade, states with emphasis that the tariff is being revised downward and not upward, and that the new bill will be a good one.

The letter was in response to one from the board urging the support of the senator for the revision downward of the tariff. The reply says in effect:

"There is a prevailing sentiment that the tariff is not being revised downward when, as a matter of fact, there are not less than 379 reductions in as many paragraphs of the bill. There are some 30 increases and those are mostly wholly on luxuries, for revenue purposes."

PORTABLE SAWMILL BOILER EXPLODES

Results in Death of Fireman and Serious Injury to Others

Rochester, N. H., June 15.—Ronello L. Stevens, aged 23, a fireman, was killed, Thomas Lee was probably fatally scalded and two other men were scalded and burned when the boiler of a portable sawmill in the woods near Parkers Mountain exploded.

The largest fragment of the boiler was blown over 500 feet and pieces were picked up at much greater distances.

Stevens was lifted twenty feet into the air and died within a few moments. Lee was terribly scalded and was so near the boiler that the greater part of the contents of the firebox was emptied on him, burning most of his clothes off.

The explosion was heard for miles in the surrounding country. The exact cause of the explosion is not known. The boiler is believed to have had some hidden defect and burst under a high steam pressure.

CUT OFF HER DAUGHTER

Rich Woman Leaves Only Child a Table Valued at $15

Newark, N. J., June 15.—A dining room table, "valued at $15," is the sole bequest made to an only daughter in the will of Mrs. Frances Hartley, widow of a millionaire gun manufacturer, which was probated here.

More than $1,000,000 in cash is distributed among other relatives and friends, and several bequests of from $1000 to $5000 are made to servants who attended her in her home at West Orange, where she died in April. No reason is given for the cutting off of the daughter, Mrs. Helen K. Jenkins of New York city.

Old Glory of Bygone Days

New York, June 15.—An American flag made in 1800, which floated above the Sandy Hook fortifications in 1914, was on exhibition during the annual meeting of the American Flag association held in this city. The tattered old banner, which bears only twenty-one stars, is the property of Mrs. Nathaniel McKay of this city.

NEW DEAL IN VENEZUELA

President Gomez of Venezuela appears to be making good. He seems to be master of the situation, and to have the administration of affairs well under control.

Since he took charge last November, with an empty treasury, the government of his country has paid $390,000 of the floating debt which was drawing high rates of interest, has taken care of its running expenses and accumulated a reserve of $320,000. That is pretty good for the little country that Castro was alleged to have ruined.

That does not tell the whole story. The poor agricultural was heavily taxed on all the coffee, cocoa and hides that he sold, and those taxes have been abolished.

The whole of this has been accomplished by the simple expedient of disbanding as much of the army as could legally be done, and turning the thousands of soldiers into producers. The army that remains is a coast guard and national police planned much like the small standing army of the United States.

The nations of the world are getting along peaceably with Gomez yet his message to the Venezuelan congress last week contained the assurance that the honor of the country has been maintained.

Evidently a good deed was done when Castro was refused the privilege of returning to the land which he had despoiled.

The United States officials at Washington are not looking for any call for fighting with Venezuela, and that is to us of this country—the best item in the whole list.

BIRD'S EYE VIEWS

After having considered the unfortunate controversies in London in 1908, the International Council of the held at Berlin, decided that it would be wise to introduce an international system of judging rather than leave the awarding of prizes to the country where the games take place.

The summary of the inventoried valuation of the taxable property of the city of Manchester for the year 1908, as compiled by the assessor's office shows a total of $23,142,000 against $21,167,743 for the year 1907, a total gain of $1,974,257. The comparison of the summaries of the two years is as follows: In 1907 there were 16,000 acres in tax; there were 16,200 acres in 1908. This decrease in number of acres is the result of a more careful and accurate survey of the Greek and Polish territories, and Lithuanian population.

The post office department is now shipping a large portion of its supplies throughout the country by freight. Prior to 1906 all such equipment for postoffices was placed in the mails and paid for at the same rate as regular mail matter. From the division of supplies at Washington there were shipped in the last month 159,743 pounds of freight. A uniform bill of lading recently adopted by the government departments is being used and is proving a great convenience.

It is probable that a law providing for the compulsory state registration of teachers could not have accomplished more in that direction than is likely to be achieved under the new school state and law. Repeated efforts had been made to get a law through requiring state certification, but without success, even when the provisions were made most liberal. Under the new law referred to, each school district with less than 3500 population, and an equalized valuation of not more than $7000 per pupil of average attendance, is to receive $2 per week from the state treasury for every teacher it employs who is a normal school graduate, or who holds a permanent state teacher's certificate.

The committee appointed by the Maine legislature to select a farm upon which experiments in orcharding and other departments will be carried on by the United States experiment station under the direction of the state agricultural department, has decided upon the Mundy farm in the southwestern part of the town of Monmouth. The legislature appropriated $10,000 for this purpose, the expense of operating the farm to be borne by the United States agricultural department.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

Massachusetts Follows New Hampshire

The Massachusetts legislature has enacted a law identical in language to the New Hampshire statute, providing for advertising the vacant farms of the state, and placed the execution of the law in the hands of the secretary of the state board of agriculture, as was done here. The argument used in connection with the passage of the bill was based upon the remarkable results secured in New Hampshire under its abandoned farm law.

This may well be regarded as a high compliment to the working of the law here, and the wisdom of the New Hampshire legislature in the enactment. Only a small fraction of results here are known to the people in general, on account of the absence of statistics showing the results. These are difficult to obtain with sufficient accuracy to be of value without the expenditure of more money than is available for the purpose.

The improved condition of the houses upon these formerly vacant places is apparent to every one who travel about the state previous to beginning of the movement, while the millions of dollars invested in other improvements and expended in the state every year by summer visitors has become a valuable asset of the state. Certain sections of Massachusetts, especially along the seacoast and in the Berkshire Hills, are admirably adapted to developing the summer business, but the state as a whole is not so favorable for it as New Hampshire. Our incomparable mountain region, with a world-wide reputation for picturesqueness and healthfulness together with our charming lake and river scenery, the two covering about every section of the state, make New Hampshire preeminently the summer playground for all the eastern section of the country.

However wise might have been the law, and however faithfully and judiciously might it have been executed there could have been no such results as have been recorded but for the natural adaptability of the state to this use. In view of those natural conditions it would be fallacious to boom the prairie states, with their vast areas of fertile soil, for summer resorts, as to boom the sections of New Hampshire now occupied by summer home for cereal production. To be sure there are thousands of acres of land in New Hampshire that can be profitably utilized today in corn, oat or potato production, and more of those acres should be devoted to these uses than is today, but a great proportion of the fifty million dollars invested here in the summer business has been invested upon land that no person would recommend for cereal production. There are exceptional cases but this statement in a general way is true.

We expect the movement in Massachusetts will be worth several times its cost to the state if vigorously pushed to the end. The large number of manufacturing cities and villages there will prove a very prolific field for exploitation in this matter. Thousands of persons can be attracted from city life to the vacant farms, resulting both in an advantage to the persons and to the state. Many thousands of acres of land capable of being worked by machinery are idle there and can be made profitable under intelligent methods. The nearness to market of these farms renders them specially attractive.

Such sections of the state to which we have referred as adapted to the summer business will be developed along that line. But after all, the great bulk of summer tourists from many foreign countries will continue to keep their eyes on New Hampshire as the place specially adapted to a summer sojourn, and when they take a vacation trip, will come here to summer homes previously purchased or to one of our magnificent summer hotels. They have become accustomed to this in the

 Advertising

Advertising is the universal appeal. It is the merchant, the purchaser, the laborer and the town crier all packed into print and made one. Thanks to its expedients, the employment seeker need no longer tramp from door to door wearily. He can send his message for a few cents to hundreds of thousands of possible employers. Perhaps $125,000,000 is spent yearly in the United States in the field of print alone. We live surrounded by the advertisement. There is no hour of waking life in which we are not besought, incited or commanded to buy something of somebody.

All this persistence cannot fail of some psychological influence. Our notions of art and even of literature must be insensibly modified by this enormous mass of inescapable display. Certainly our memories are impressed with it, though unconsciously or subconsciously. The average man will say, "I never pay any attention to advertisements," and think himself well within the limits of truth, but in nine cases out of ten the mere weight of iteration has produced its unnoted effect. To the range of advertising there is no apparent limit. Cities, political parties and traction companies exploit themselves or their causes as well as mercantile concerns and individuals.

There is no route map of success in advertising. The most experienced practitioner cannot tell what will be successful and what a failure. "Like a play's, an advertisement's sole and final test is public presentation. "Smiling Joe," one of the most skillful appeals to charitable sentiment ever made, as well as a genuinely charming and attractive display, was the creation of an expert in charity work who had no technical interest whatever in advertising.

Nevertheless nine times out of ten the man who thinks, dreams and lives ads. is the man whose work tells. As a rule, the advertiser plays fair. His copy and his designs are his own, though ethics of the business do not forbid his taking advantage of some opening left by a competitor. Advertising is more than advertising. Even were ads. not essential as revenue producers to the newspapers, they would be highly important as news, for in them is found matter of daily information which cannot be obtained elsewhere.

past, and will continue it in the future. The fine system of state roads provided for by the recent legislature, extending to all sections of the state will prove a valuable incentive to this.

We are pleased that Massachusetts recognized a good thing and made arrangements for the same there. It will be successful in a way and a wise expenditure of money, but the results cannot equal the results in New Hampshire. It is a great advertising scheme but it is necessary to have the goods in the form of mountains, lakes, rivers and forests in order to make great sales.—Manchester Union.

Tardily Done, But a Good Deed

The summer of 1909 will be specially remembered in coming years as the first summer in which the railroads running east of Chicago offered special tourist rates to New England summer resorts. The particular significance in this action by the railroads is that the trend of summer travel to New England had become so pronounced that it had become worth while to cater to it and attempt to attract it. Dispatches from Chicago report a large demand for these round trip season tickets, more than one thousand of them being sold in that city alone on June 1, the first day on which they became available. The round trip rate between Chicago and New York is made $27.25 on the standard lines and $25.50 on the differentials. It is stated that all the trunk lines are making special preparations to take care of the new traffic expected to develop during the vacation season—the anticipation being that western people will come east for their outings to an extent never before known. Somehow, New England does not appear to be in a way to be left hopelessly out in the cold just yet.—Manchester Union.

Ohio Democratic News Via Texas

It is announced that, as a result of the recent visit of Mr. Bryan to Ohio, a banquet will be given there in July by the Franklin County Democratic Club for the purpose of booming Governor Harmon for the presidential nomination in 1912. It is announced that the club will have as its guests Governor Johnson of Minnesota. Governor Marshall of Indiana, Champ Clark of Missouri and other distinguished Democrats. From all accounts Mr. Bryan is in sympathy with the platform of the Ohio Democrats.—Dallas News.

A Bideford Comment

Did you notice the total eclipse of the moon? It differed in one material way from many functions of which we have heard in that it was on time and was carried out strictly according to schedule.—Bideford Journal.

The Smallest Clams Yet

Charles Clark, the Hills Beach clam digger, was driving to town the other day, with his customary load of bivalves, when meeting an acquaintance, he stopped to talk a moment. Just as he was about to drive on, his friend exclaimed, "Why, Charles, I didn't know that pumpkins grew on the flats." "Neither did I," answered the clamite, "whatever put that idea into your head?" "O, nothing in particular," answered the friend, "only I noticed you had a load of seeds."—Bideford Journal.

Capt. and Mrs. T. Burton Hoyt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Favour and Mrs. J. C. Hoyt passed Sunday in Sanford, making the trip in Capt. Hoyt's Cadillac 30 touring car.

Some of the Italians in the employ of the Atlantic Shore line have reversed the opinions they held when they left home to make their fortunes in the land of the free. They have decided that living expenses amount to something after all, and because this something is too much they have relinquished their jobs here and left town. The men who have got through are Vincenzo Russo, Salvatore Gualaccia (Vincenza Scherzi, Raffaele Laecese, Giuseppe Dallamave, Antonio Saccio and Michele Saccio.

Ray H. Fuller, who recently entered the employ of Ernest T. Hobson of York Village, is running as spare conductor on the Atlantic Shore line.

The condition of Daniel Frisbee is so much improved that he has returned to his work.

Apropos of the paragraph recently published in this column to the effect that the schooner Lizzie J. Call had never visited a foreign port, the Herald correspondent is informed that on March 10 1891, she cleared from Portsmouth for Clementsport, N. S., and on Aug. 19, 1899 she cleared for Windsor, N. S. The first information was received from a supposedly reliable source, but even three trips to the Maritime Provinces for a vessel 23 years old is very unusual.

William Dean Howells arrived Tuesday afternoon from New York and Mrs. Howells and Miss Mildred will follow shortly.

Horace M. Seaward has resumed his duties with Carpenter George M. Colby after being ill for a week.

Frank E. Lawry, who has been seriously ill was out of doors today for the first time.

There also arrived the tug Irvington, with the coal barges Berkshire, Beckett and Baltic, from Perth Amboy for eastern ports, the schooner Mollie Rhodes, Dobbin, Jonesboro for New York with laths, and the schooner Marcus Edwards, Wiley, South Amboy for York with coal. The latter was towed to her destination this morning by the tug M. Mitchell Davis.

Melvin P. Gerrish passed Monday in Boston on business. Miss Cora Blood of Brookline, Mass., was a visitor in town on Monday.

Winter Apples to

the High School

Exeter, June 15.

Fruit dealers in this section of the state report that from present indications the fall crop will be large, but winter fruit it seems will fall below the usual supply.

The corn raising industry in Rockingham county has taken a decided boom, by the institution of the canning factory at Epping, and between that town and Portsmouth there are several thousand acres of it planted for the factory alone by different farmers about the country.

An important meeting of the senior class of the academy was held, in which several vacant offices were filled. It was voted by the class to hold a reunion in Exeter in June, 1918. John Paul Jones of Washington, D. C., was elected president of the June ball officers, and E. D. Park of Santa Barbara, Cal., was elected second marshal for class day. W. G. Guethrie of Bangor, Me., was chosen to deliver the address to the undergraduates.

Fred Burns, the star printer at the academy, has returned to his studies, after partially recovering from the injury received by being hit by a twelve-pound hammer at Andover. He, however, will not be able to compete in any amateur games this summer, but hopes to condition himself for the St. Augustine games, which are held the latter part of August.

S. P. R. Chadwick, instructor in history at the academy, left for New York on Monday, where he is to be the reader for the college entrance board, which conducts examinations there this week. It also will hold examinations here this week.

There was much rejoicing among the high school students over their victory over Andover after the contest. The town bell was rung for a long time, and the victorious team was much lauded for its good work. The work of the entire team was especially good, particularly in the ninth inning when the winning spirit came to the front after the score was three to one in favor of Andover. The battery work of L. Monston and Welsh was excellent.

Willard T. Davis has entered his duties as chauffeur for the Misses Paul at Newfields, where he has been employed for the last three seasons.

Flag day was observed here by a generous display of the national colors. Many public buildings and also private residences had flags floating over them.

The block system on the Boston and Maine railroad is now established from Boston to the end of the double track, between Newmarket and Durham. It has been in operation between this town and Boston for the last two months, and within a week a force of workmen has been busy in instituting the signals for the remainder of the distance. They are in operation on both east and west tracks. By the system the five-minute flags at crossings have been discontinued, and orders to this effect were received by crossing tenders here and the end of the double track today.

ROBSON & WILSON

Novelty Musical Duo a great Hit at Music Hall

There have been some good raucous shows at Music Hall this season but this week's show is certainly the banner attraction.

Robson and Wilson in their novelty Musical act head the bill. They play on a number of novel instruments among them a musical type writer. Their act is well arranged and they got a good hand.

La Mira in a slack wire act is a remarkably clever performer. He does some very difficult balancing stunts playing a mandolin while sitting in a chair on the wire.

Miss Leona Belasco is heard to good advantage in her two songs, "Moonlight" and "Sweetheart" is a pretty name. Both songs have beautifully colored slides.

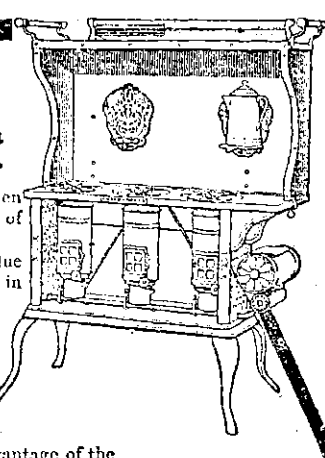

The pictures include "A Wartime Sweetheart," which is featured, "Forecastle Tom," and "The Lost Melody," dramatic, and "A Pig in a Poke," comedy.

HIGH SCHOOLClass Prophecy for This Year's Graduates

The following is an interesting class paper for this year at the Portsmouth High school:

THE CLASS PROPHECY.

A Letter Addressed to Miss Gertrude Meyer.

Portsmouth, N. H., June 17, 1919.

My dear Gertrude:— I was so glad to get your letter containing such pleasant news. I am sure he's a very happy man and I know he's a very lucky one. Of course I congratulate you and shall be pleased to be bridesmaid.

And now, I too, have some news which I know you will like to hear. Whom do you think I met the other day? Jack Palmer, our old class president! We had a long talk together and he told me some facts about the '09 crowd which I will proceed to relate. Jack, it seems, is employed by a firm which makes a specialty of personally conducted tours to Washington, D. C. and return. He says it's a very lucrative business. Mildred Burke is still at Smith college, for after her graduation, she was asked to remain as one of the faculty. Billy Brackett is still winning praise for his wonderful three-base hits. Billy is now a member of the famous National League. Margaret Rand has just bought a large dairy farm in Greenland, N. H., and soon will go there to live. Irene Boyle has at last overcome her distaste for playing in public and is now a well known violinist. Philip Badger, after his brilliant college career, is principal of a very select school for young ladies. Bertice Remick is meeting with great success in her work as a hospital nurse. She is now employed at the Massachusetts General in Boston. I believe, you surely have heard of our famous actress. I went to see Eloise in her new role of Juliet last week and she was certainly splendid. I was not surprised, however, to hear that our Juliet had found her true Romeo and would soon exchange the footlights for the pleasant glow of her own fireside. Barbara Boynton is famous too, and we are all proud of our young prima-donna. She sings the part of Marguerite in Faust. I believe, Samuel Fletcher is now an exponent of the cult which bears his name. Poor boy, I hope he is not dyspeptic. Elizabeth Hett decided to study law and has just been admitted to the bar. We all remember Elizabeth's powers of argument. Gertrude Belmont's artistic skill has brought her both wealth and fame. I presume you have seen a few of her drawings. They appear every week in the Boston Sunday Globe. Gay Smart is a wealthy and very successful chemist. His formulae always are right except in case of accident, which only occurs ninety-nine out of one hundred times. Leah Walsh is acting as coach for the basketball girls at Traip Academy. I hear that she is very popular with them. Florence O'Keefe has at last had the pleasure of graduating in a cap and gown. She received her degree from a prominent medical school and is now a promising young doctor. Gertrude Gothorpe is matron of a summer school for boys and seems very happy in her vocation—or is it avocation? Miriam Pollard has just published some pretty little sonnets in the "Smart Set." Her style is considered almost equal to that of Alfred Austin. Dean Nelson has just graduated from Newton Theological Seminary and will soon be ordained as a Baptist minister. I always knew that Dean was meant for a clergyman. Anna Phelan is making a great success of her work as a dancing teacher. She has large classes in Portsmouth as well as most of the neighboring towns. Leon Robinson's genius has brought him great fame and he is regarded as almost a Paley-wiki. I am so glad I can remember Leon's first famous production. Esther Slossburg has just received her diploma at Simmons college and soon will return to old P. H. S. as teacher of Domestic Science. (I forgot to tell you that this important study had just been introduced here.) Ralph Woods is a poor but honest inventor. His latest contrivance is a machine for lining tennis courts, which has not proved a great success as yet. Beatrice Dibbuck has long been enrolled in the ranks of the suffragettes. She is still an earnest worker in the cause. Did you know Morris Ring had written a book? It is very profound, I am told, and is called "What Constitutes a Gentleman." Mary Mercier has given some time to the study of elocution and soon will give lessons in that gentle art. Raymond Hoitt has enjoyed a very successful career as a theatrical manager. He has just bought the copyright to that dainty exquisite little comedy, "The Frolicsome Lambs" in which our friend Ralph Badger plays the part of leading man. I hear that Ralph has been threatened with discharge, however, unless he controls his frequent attacks of melancholy. Philip Griffin is now a famous lecturer. He makes a specialty of graduation addresses and his style is considered a wonderful blending of Mark Twain and Sam Walter Foss. Beatrice Betton poses as a model for the drawing classes at Phillips Exeter. The students are asked to pay special attention to her "Beautiful Eyes."

So you see I found out quite a bit concerning our former classmates, and now I must close this lengthy epistle and bid you good-bye until the happy day.

Yours, as ever,

EDNA B. WILLEY.

MILITIAMEN MEET

The officers of the coast artillery companies at Portsmouth, Exeter, Laconia and Dover are today at Fort Constitution with consultation with Captain McBride, and the other regular army officers here, in regard to the arrangements for the militia's tour of duty at the forts in August.

MERCER BILL

Boston, June 15.—The Massachusetts house or representatives today killed the Washburn railroad merger bill and sent the Draper bill to the third reading. This is believed to ensure the enactment of the Draper bill.

Landlord—How did you manage to rent that microscopic flat to Mrs. Hunter? Agent—Dead easy. When I showed her the little rooms I told her they were all closets, and she was so pleased that she forgot to look for rooms.—Exchange.

Rebuked.

Large Lady (beamingly)—Could I get a seat near the stage, please? Box Office (surprisingly)—Why, certainly. What row did you want? Large Lady (indignantly)—Don't get fresh, young man.—Judge.

Cures baby's croup, Willie's daily cuts and bruises, mama's sore throat, grandma's lameness—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil—the great household remedy.

DOVER DOINGS

Dover, June 15.—With appropriate ceremonies under the new ritual Dover lodge of Elks observed flag day at Elks' hall Monday night. This being the first observance of the anniversary by the lodge it was made strictly a lodge event, but next year a public observance is contemplated. The officers in charge were Walter J. Hughes exalted ruler, James Cavanaugh esteemed leading knight, Harry B. Tasker esteemed leading knight, LeRoy Gowen esteemed leading knight, Maj. Frank H. Keenan secretary, Harry E. Hughes chaplain and Dr. O. J. Peira esquire. The history of the flag was read by Maj. Keenan, and the "Tribute to the Flag" was given by Fred E. Quimby. There was a recitation by Dr. Peira. The concluding address was by Col. A. Melvin Foss. The chorus sang a medley of southern airs and the exercises closed with "America."

The continued case against Leo Daher, Joseph Daher, Asad Peters and Joseph Shibet, charged with assaulting Asad George with intent to kill, June 6, was called in the police court on Monday. City Marshal Adams moved to not press the charges against Peters and Shibet, and the motion was granted, the men being discharged. As the victim of assault is still in the hospital, the hearing was continued until June 21.

The spraying of the elm trees about the city for the purpose of exterminating the elm beetle, is progressing rapidly and many private citizens have engaged the services of the city's agents to take care of the trees on their property.

The class of 1908 of the high school is planning to hold a reunion this year and it is now thought that the affair will be held about the time the present senior class of the school have their graduation exercises. The class of 1908 is the largest class which ever graduated from the school, numbering fifty-four, and if the reunion is held, there is every evidence that a good representation of the class would be present. Frank G. Wilkinson is chairman of the committee having the arrangements in hand.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Brown, who were recently wedded, left here Saturday for Boston, where they will embark for Europe, where they expect to spend about three months.

A squad of police, headed by Capt. Charles Stevens and with Officers Chesley, Brownell and Scanlon, went to the house of Alice West on New York street armed with a warrant for the proprietress, charging her with keeping a disorderly house. The officers found a small quantity of beer in the house and a Mrs. Allen, who claimed she was in charge, was also found. There were two men drunk on the premises and they were taken into custody. In court Judge Frost did not find evidence to hold her and she was discharged. The two men were each fined $7.52, which they paid.

SMITH—BROWN

Elmer A. Smith and Lottie M. Brown of Portland were married in Portsmouth this forenoon by Rev. Frank H. Gardner.

The groom gave his occupation as a hair dresser.

PURCHASED BELL PROPERTY

The property of Mrs. J. W. Bell at the corner of South and Middle streets has been sold to Alden Palmer of Miller avenue.

WHEN HER BACK ACHES

A Woman Finds All Her Energy and Ambition Slipping Away

Portsmouth women know how the aches and pains that come when the kidneys fail make life a burden. Backache, hip pains, headaches, dizzy spells, distressing urinary troubles, all tell of sick kidneys and warn you of the stealthy approach of diabetes, dropsy and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills permanently cure all these disorders. Here's a proof of it in a woman's words:

Mrs. C. W. Ham, 130 State St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: "I had my first experience with Doan's Kidney Pills about three years ago. At that time I was suffering from backache and lameness across my loins and knew that something had to be done. I resolved to try Doan's Kidney Pills and obtained them at Philbrick's drug store. This remedy checked the backache and relieved the lameness in my loins. I have appealed to Doan's Kidney Pills on several occasions since and they have always given me prompt relief. I know of many other persons who have used this remedy with the same beneficial results."

SESSION MAY LAST ALL SUMMER

Washington, June 15.—"We will surely be here until the first of August and probably until the first of September," said Senator Clay of Georgia Monday, about the session of Congress. He had just concluded reading of the newspaper report of the senate finance committee with reference to the portions of the tariff bill which have remained unacted upon until yesterday.

"I observed," he said, "that the committee has placed a tariff on hides and also on cotton bagging and cotton ties. We of the south are not so much concerned about the duty on hides as such, but New England need not think that she can tax our people without hearing from us. "So far we have remained very quiet in the present contest, but unless I am very much mistaken the democratic senators will be heard from from this time on. The duty on bagging will cost our people at least $5,000,000 a year, and we will not submit without a protest."

A HEAVY SHOWER

Heat of Yesterday Brought up Two Showers one of which was very heavy

The extreme heat of yesterday brought on a shower shortly after 4 o'clock in the afternoon that was a heavy one while it lasted. There was some thunder and lightning, but as far as known no great damage was done in the respect. The rainfall for a time however was the heaviest ever seen in this section, for at the end of the shower, fourteen minutes it was a cloudburst. In this city it was not as heavy as outside but at Greenland it poured in torrents so heavy in fact that it completely shut out everything over fifty feet away.

The shower stopped shortly before 4:30 o'clock and it cleared but the temperature did not drop to any extent.

There was another shower broke shortly after eight o'clock but it was a light one and there was but small rain.

tion a great deal of work had to be done about the house. The offices, dining room and in fact the entire lower part of the house was repainted. The plank walks about the hotel were rebuilt, the verandas replanked and the roof looked after.

Another thing that has been done is the rearranging of the Celia Thaxter cottage. Her famous room has been repainted and all of the pictures rehung and in addition has been added a fine collection of autograph letters, books etc., the personal property of the authoress. This has been all under the personal direction of Mrs. Nunn and it will be held as a memorial to Celia Thaxter.

Manager Nunn informed the Chronicle representative that nothing had been left undone to get the hotel in fine condition and as soon as the season begins every effort will be made to make a reputation for the house that will be lasting. Especial attention being given to transient trade.

ANNAPOLIS BOARD OF VISITORS REPORTS

Urges that Men be Given Commissions at End of Four Years

The Navy Department has made public the recommendations of the Naval Academy board of Visitors for this year. One of the most important recommendations is that midshipmen be commissioned as ensigns at the end of the four years' course at Annapolis instead of waiting until the end of the two years' cruise which follows departure from the Academy. Another important recommendation is that the number of instructors be increased so that the number of midships in a section will be ten at a maximum although eight would be better still. At present the number runs up to fourteen and sometimes in certain departments to sixteen. It is deemed advisable by the board that all instructors be graduates of the Academy, except those for mathematics, modern languages and English. Officers should be detailed for not less than three years and no officers should do duty in more than one department.

It is recommended that the four full years of Academic instruction be continued and that there be no congestion of courses and that no demand for the retention of inefficient be considered. A good deal of the report refers to athletics and it is recommended that as soon as practical bowling alleys and a hand ball court be constructed at Bancroft Hall. It is also recommended that a stadium be built, fully equipped with suitable dressing rooms on an athletic field to be constructed between Bancroft Hall and the Severn River. Improvements in the tennis courts and the golf courses are also recommended.

AT DARTMOUTH

Dr. Ernest Fox Nichols, president-elect of Dartmouth college, arrived in Hanover at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon with Mrs. Nichols and Miss Nichols to attend the reception to be tendered him by the faculty on Tuesday evening in college hall. Returning for the first time after six years' absence while professor of experimental physics at Columbia university, Dr. Nichols was accorded a grand ovation by the student body assembled on Main street 1200 strong.

The president elect drove up with President Tucker, and after hearty cheers by the students for both men, the retiring president introduced Dr. Nichols briefly to the undergraduates, referring to the latter as Nichols men, and urging their hearty co-operation and support of the new leader of Dartmouth college.

Dr. Nichols said in part: "I had always planned to return to Hanover some day, but had never dreamed of coming back as your president, rather after I had retired from public life and would wish to again look over the college where I spent five of my happiest years. The newspapers have commented on the trustees' election, but they have not mentioned my courage in assuming the arduous duties so faithfully discharged by your beloved President Tucker, whose grand works I cannot hope to emulate in many years to come. I sincerely hope that I may uphold the glory of old Dartmouth as it has ever been, that with your loyal support we can continue to make the college stand for moral vigor, sound knowledge and many prowess. I will be the crew and help take the good ship Dartmouth first across the line."

Dr. Nichols will return to New York on Wednesday to finish up his work at Columbia.

Dr. Tucker retires from official duty.

MILITIA AT CONCORD

Annual Encampment of the State National Guard Infantry

Concord, June 15.—The reorganized New Hampshire National Guard infantry, consisting of one regiment instead of two as formerly, began its first tour of duty at the state camp grounds in this city on Monday and will continue five days.

All the companies of the regiment were mobilized in Railroad square, the companies being brought to the city by special trains. It was the first time that the infantry companies have marched into camp in a body, and the regiment passing through the principal business streets, headed by the regimental band, the soldiers in khaki uniforms and heavy marching accoutrements, won much applause. Camp was reached shortly after 11 o'clock. The battery, with headquarters at Peterboro, came overland and did not reach the state camp until the afternoon.

The week is to be a novel one for the troops of this state, as this is the first year when regular army drilling and discipline will be followed.

Lieut. William Dryden, U. S. A., has been detailed by the war department as drill instructor for the week.

He reached the city yesterday and went immediately into camp.

It is generally understood that the work of the week will be in some respects very different from that of the past, and that the troops will find more of business and less of the nature of a pleasurable outing than has been true of the past, a reversal in practice which meets the approval of citizens of the state generally.

Thursday will be governor's day, and the troops will be reviewed by Gov. Henry B. Quinn and staff.
